DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/16/06 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant is reminded of the election of species D figure 5 in paper filed 11/23/05. The claims are no longer generic as previously argued.

Response to Amendment

The drawing objection has been withdrawn since the specification and the drawing does disclose reference element 7 to be a temperature sensor.

The Semm rejection has been withdrawn in view of the amendment filed 10/16/06. However, the Drapeau et al. reference still applies.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1,4-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no support for "the heating device being provided in the at least one of said first instrument" . Claim 1 appears to be directed at Figure 5. Applicant added the first instrument "A" into the drawing which was approved. However. The heating means 5 or 6 is not in the first instrument part. Applicant needs to remove this language from the claim since this is considered to be new matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4-11, 14-17, and 19-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Drapeau et al (US 4,682,010).

Drapeau et al. disclose a first instrument part (not shown, but located within the patient), a second instrument 10 having a gas-heating device 36 (col. 4), and temperature sensors 22/23/24 (Fig 1, col. 3). The temperature sensors are all connected to the heater control/regulator unit 26 (See figure1). In one interpretation, since the first instrument part lacks distinguishing structural elements, this first instrument part can be the tube that is inserted in the patient or it can be the tube in combination with the part/heater 10. Similarly, since the second instrument part lacks structurally distinguishing features, the second instrument part can be the heater 10 by itself if not in combination with the first instrument part or it can be the heater and tube 12. Thus this would be the claim limitation of the heating device being in at least the first or the second instrument part. Further, the limitation of the tube disposed between the second instrument part and the insufflation device can be the tube 12 or it can be the tube where the air or humidified oxygen is streaming through. Drapeau et al. specifically disclose the heating element to be a spiral electric heating element 36. See figure 7.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 12 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10/16/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that Drapeau et al. does not disclose an endoscopic instrument, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Furthermore, the claims do not have enough structural language to overcome the reference. The new limitation of the tube is found in the Drapeau et al. reference.
